In 2011, the SFL group, owner of this building complex in the heart of the Bourse district entrusted Philippe Chiambaretta/PCA with the design and development of an ambitious restructuring project for office space.

Consisting of three buildings, the Richelieu cluster has undergone a major redevelopment to create a high-end business center around flexible and modern platforms equipped with prestige services. The proposed project from PCA is one of the first buildings in France to aim for triple HQE/BREEAM/LEED certification for sustainability. It aims to reinterpret the initial writing of the 1950s standards and thus to recover the main features of the original building established by the rhythm of the vertical frame and the horizontal superposition.
